

NWTRC Makes National Magazine Cover

Long time NWTRC rider Kiyah Lorden, riding Kleng, being lead through therapeutic riding exercises by volunteer sidewalker Kelly Rosebrock graces the cover of the nationally distributed STRIDES magazine! Strides, the North American Riding for the Handicapped (NARHA) seasonal magazine is subscribed to by hundreds of therapeutic riding professionals and centers, and seen by 1000's of people in our field, throughout North America and Europe.

NWTRC's cover photo won first place, out of 140 photos submitted by North American riding centers, in NARHA's annual photo contest. In addition to being awarded the cover of Strides magazine, NWTRC was also awarded full registration to the last national NARHA conference. Unable to attend the conference NWTRC donated the registration to fellow region 9 NARHA member Annie Mabry of the Rainbow Connection, a therapeutic riding center in Anchorage Alaska. Annie was thrilled to accept the conference registration donation.

Kiyah, Kleng and Kelly should be very proud that their determined and focused session is captured for 1000's of therapeutic riding professionals, riders, parents, caretakers, volunteers, boards and friends to see. WE ARE PROUD! THANKS from NWTRC to Kiyah, Kelly, Kleng and NARHA!!
